REGULATION

On the management of international cooperation activities of the Saigon International University

(Issued in conjunction with Decision no. /QĐ-SIU dated February 28th, 2020 by the Chancellor of the Saigon International University)

CHAPTER I

GENERAL PROVISIONS

Article 1. Scope and applicability

1. This regulation applies to all partnerships and international cooperations (IC) under the management of the Saigon International University (SIU).

2. This regulation applies to the Office of Science and International Cooperation (IC Office), other Schools and Offices under SIU, collectively referred to as divisions henceforth, staff, students, and international partners of SIU.

Article 2. Definitions

1. Within this regulation, IC activities shall refer to all processes pertaining to the partnership between SIU's individual/group with an individual/group of foreign origin regarding the execution of the agreed commitments.

2. Incoming delegations are foreign delegations coming to SIU to visit/study/work.

Article 3. General principles

1. IC activities must be carried out with due process, with clear programs, goals, and content; must comply with Vietnam's laws and regulations, as well as international ones; must strictly follow the reporting and approval seeking process in accordance with the regulations by the Government and relevant authorities; must ensure the sovereignty, independence, and national security of Vietnam; must observe the standard codes of conduct and communication; shall implement standardization for receptionist service, event and conference organization in alignment with international conventions; shall computerize the management of international cooperation.

2. IC activities shall enhance the quality and efficiency of education and research and develop professional capacity and skills for staff and faculty; accept transferred technologies for education and research; mobilize resources and scholarships for students and researchers at every level; promote international integration, elevating the images of SIU, of the involved Offices and Schools; deepen the amity and cooperation between Vietnam and other countries. IC activities should effectively employ external resources (international organizations, professors, experts, intellectuals, as well as skilled Vietnamese in diaspora), while efficiently utilize internal resources for implementation of international cooperation endeavors.

IC activities must ensure centralized, consistent leadership of SIU and robust collaborative effort between the divisions with clear allocation and assignment of tasks; promote accountability, creativity, and initiative of individuals and divisions; encourage inventive solutions and proposals; ensure synchronous and strict administration by management at all levels.

CHAPTER II

PLANNING FOR INTERNATIONAL COOPERATION, INTERNATIONAL INTEGRATION, AND COORDINATION OF INTERNATIONAL COOPERATION ACTIVITIES

Article 6. Preparation of international cooperation plans

1. Based on the University's development strategies, priorities, as well as the divisions' IC plans, the IC Office shall develop annual University International Cooperation plan to be submitted to the School Board (SB).

2. Based on their functions, duties, and needs for international cooperation, each division shall draft an annual International Cooperation Plan to be submitted to the IC Office between November 1st and 10th for compilation.

3. The content of the IC plans may include:

- a. Cooperation agreements to be signed;
- b. Currently implemented or coming IC projects of the division;
- c. IC plans;
- d. Expected outgoing delegations: for studying, working abroad, or for attending international conferences, seminars;
- e. Expected incoming delegations: for studying, working, exchange, giving lectures, or attending conferences, workshops, or IC programs or projects headed by the University or the division;
- f. International conferences and workshops jointly organized on the University's premise by the division and the IC Office.

4. Should any IC activity detailed in Section 3 Article 5 arise without planned, a supplementary report of such event must be submitted to the IC Office.

Article 7. Mobilization and development of international cooperation, international integration, and coordination of international cooperation activities

1. The IC Office shall be a hub tasked with exploring, expanding, and reinforcing international cooperations in multiple fields; with mobilizing investments and developing IC plans for the University; playing the role of IC hub for SIU. The Office is also in charge of developing plans for international integration, coordinating the divisions in the negotiation process toward cooperation agreement; assisting other divisions in coordinating and organizing bilateral and multilateral international cooperation activities.

2. The divisions shall proactively explore and expand their scope of international sponsor; develop cooperation plans, as well as programs, projects concerning each division's area of specialization, obtaining the support from the Office to deepen the international cooperation for expertise and technologies.

Article 8. Establishment and development of international cooperation network

1. The IC Office shall be a hub tasked with establishing and developing international cooperation network with the IC representatives from the divisions.

2. The IC Office shall manage, provide guidance on the practice of international cooperation for all members in the network.

CHAPTER III

SIGNING AND IMPLEMENTATION OF INTERNATIONAL COOPERATION AGREEMENTS

Article 9. Preparation of international cooperation agreements

1. For any international cooperation agreements made with the Saigon International University, the IC Office must cooperate with relevant divisions to determine the content of agreement to be submitted to the Chancellor;

2. For any international cooperation agreements made with a specific division: the division shall prepare an agreement in full to be submitted to the University leadership for approval via the IC Office, whose duty is to verify it. Without the IC Office's verification, the division responsible for drafting such document shall be fully accountable for any incident arising from its implementation. The University leadership will not give approval signature for any document lacking the verification signature by the IC Office.

Article 10. Negotiation and signing

1. The content of the negotiation process shall be documented in writing;

2. Should any intricacy arise, the responsible division shall actively discuss with the IC Office to conduct research and propose appropriate suggestions. The IC Office submits such suggestions to the University leadership for review and final decision;

3. Based on the agreed terms and conditions, the IC Office shall draft the finalized agreement content to be submitted to the University leadership for approval. Once the content is approved, the IC Office will prepare for the coming signing ceremony;

4. For any international cooperation agreement between a division and a foreign partner, the responsible division must, after the negotiation process, cooperate with the IC Office to report to the University leadership the agreed terms and conditions and ask for permission to sign. Upon receiving such permission, the responsible division shall refer to the IC Office for preparations for the signing ceremony to conduct one by themselves;

5. The document to be signed must be made into a copy and forwarded to the IC Office and relevant divisions for coordinated implementation and management.

Article 11. Agreement implementation

1. The IC Office cooperates with relevant divisions to monitor the implementation of the signed agreement.

2. The responsible division shall add the progress and results of implementation to the annual International Cooperation Plan to be submitted to the IC Office and relevant divisions. The IC Office will compile the reports to submit to the authorities regarding these outcomes.

3. The reports should be regularly updated with confirmation by the head of division.

4. Should any problem arise during implementation, the responsible division should immediately refer to the IC Office and the University leadership for possible solutions.

CHAPTER IV

INTERNATIONAL GUESTS RECEPTION

Article 12. Reception by University leaders

1. The IC Office shall play an intermediary role between the incoming international guests / delegations and the University leadership.

2. Any document pertaining to reception of international guests made by responsible division must be submitted to the IC Office at least 07 days before the guest's arrival. The IC Office shall consult the University leadership of the incoming guests to obtain approval and final decision. Any guest wishing to work with the University must forward summary of their plan, with the responsible division's comment in attachment. After the review and approval process, the IC Office shall communicate the final decision to the responsible division for implementation.

The proposal for incoming delegation must specify:

- Members of the delegation and their respective position/occupation;
- Purposes, content of cooperation, and relevant programs;
- Time of reception;
- Other suggestions.

3. For any guests coming to the University upon a direct invitation from the responsible division that has been approved by the SB, such an invitation must be submitted to the University leadership via the IC Office and must not be directly forwarded. Only the IC Office shall reserve the right to give verification signature and submit to the University leadership any invitation for international guests. The Saigon International University leadership may only give the approval signature to the invitation once it has been verified by the IC Office.

Article 13. Reception by division leaders

1. The responsible division shall report to the IC Office of the incoming delegation. The IC Office, in turns, report to the Chancellor and communicate the permission to proceed back to the responsible division. The division leader may only welcome international delegation upon approval by the Chancellor or Deputy Chancellor (authorized by the Chancellor with a written letter of attorney) and involvement of the IC Office. Any international guest reception without report and approval by the University is not allowed.

Division leader conducting such a breach will bear full responsibility before the Chancellor and relevant authorities for security concerns as well as any arising issues.

2. The responsible division shall prepare for the reception and be accountable to the University leadership for the topics to be discussed.

3. The responsible division must request for permission and guidance from the University leadership in the following circumstances:

a. The topics to be discussed involve or concern new State's policies, plans or such topics are politically charged.

b. The topics to be discussed are beyond the division's area of specialization and involve other divisions.

4. The responsible division shall prepare neat, clean rooms for reception. There must be at least two of the University personnel present during reception, with one being a secretary to record the content of discussion. An interpreter may also be called on if necessary. After the meeting, the responsible division must report to the SB the discussion content and strategies for future cooperation.

5. University personnel must not welcome international guests as an individual. For any instance of international guest reception without report and approval by the University, the leader of the responsible division will bear full responsibility before the Chancellor and the laws for security concerns as well as any arising issues.

CHAPTER V

RECEPTION AND MANAGEMENT OF INCOMING DELEGATION

Article 14. Reception of delegations comprising Ministers of foreign countries or equivalents
